

Press Release
7 March 2016

Dynamic duo Caiti Ockenden and mum, Donna, have raised £336 for Stonepillow at the Vintage and Very Nice Market held at the Chichester Assembly Rooms

Caiti, who attends Portsmouth High School and is raising funds for Stonepillow as part of her Duke of Edinburgh Award, said “All the traders were very friendly and gave us advice on prices and which items would sell. We have sold a lot!” She continued “There is interest from the general public that we were doing this for charity. We put a Stonepillow leaflet in each bag that was taken away and lots of passersby commented on how pleased they were to see us selling items at the Vintage fair in aid of the Charity”.

Mrs Marshallsay, Duke of Edinburgh Manager at Portsmouth High School said ‘We are very proud of Caiti and the valuable work she has done in raising money for Stonepillow, The Duke of Edinburgh Awards are a wonderful way of giving people the opportunity to work within the community as well as many other valuable skills that they learn. Caiti has raised this money for Stonepillow which offers shelter, information and support to empower homeless and vulnerable individuals in the Chichester and Arun areas.’

Caiti will be back at the Assembly Rooms with lots more vintage pieces to sell on Saturday 16th April from 10am until 5pm.
